Tourmaline Music releases first CD by Maine rockers

Local bands featured on 'Out of the Woods'

By Douglas Watts

"Out of the Woods," believed to be the first compact disc compilation by Maine musicians, including songs by four Rumford-area bands, has just been released by Tourmaline Music of Bethel.

"If there's been another Maine CD put out, we haven't heard it," said Conni St. Pierre, president of the three-year-old independent record company. The compact disc contains 18 songs by 10 bands, all recorded at the 24-track Outlook Studio in Bethel. The studio's owners are Conni and Ted St. Pierre, who also operate Tourmaline Music.

The songs range from electrified folk to '80s surf rock, rap, blues-funk, off-beat progressive rock, and a style one of the groups, Otis Coyote, calls "Appalachian psycho-metal-grass."

Ted St. Pierre engineered all the songs on the 60-minute disc. The cover art for the disc is a full-color reproduction of a painting by Norway artist Nikki Millonzi.

"We left it up to the bands to decide which songs they wanted to put on the disc," Ted St. Pierre said. "The first time I listened to all the songs back to back, the variety of styles surprised me, even though I was there when every song was recorded. Anyone who thinks there's no original music coming out of Maine will be proven wrong when they hear this."

Sunday River plan would double size of lift and trail system

But Otten says DEP, LURC filings only to clear regulatory obstacles ahead of time; actual construction could be years away

Sunday River Ski Resort has applied to the state Department of Environmental Protection for approval of the first phase of expansion plan that would eventually more than double the size of the resort's trail and lift system.

The plan submitted by Sunday River last week calls for adding 15 lifts and 75 trails to the resort's current network of 10 chairlifts and 60 trails.

While the DEP application makes reference to the overall expansion plan, Sunday River is currently only seeking approval for the first phase of the expansion—which involves four chairlifts and 23 trails.

Phase one of the project would increase the total skiing acreage of the resort by about 201 acres, and skier capacity would jump from the present 10,000 to 15,000.

Sunday River owner Les Otten, stressed, however, that no business decisions have been made about when construction may begin. According to Otten, economic conditions will determine the actual pace of future expansion. "It's a plan. I don't know how much reality is attached to it," he said. "If the economy allows us to expand then we hope to be in the position to do it."

Otten predicted the growth rate of the ski area would be about 7 to 10 percent a year, matched by an increase

Local families watch, worry, wait Little word yet from loved ones in gulf battle zone

For the first three days of the war, Phil and Juanita said they watched the television reports as often as the demands of running of their family farm would allow.

Police chief interviews set to begin next week

The Bethel Board of Selectmen has received 43 applications for the position of town police chief and has narrowed the list of candidates down to four.

Town Manager Madeleine Henley said the board plans to interview the four finalists next week.

The position became available when the town's current chief, Brian Stowell, announced in December that he planned to resign effective March 2.

Rebel langlaufers ready for MVC, state meets

Today's (Wednesday) cross-country ski meet between Telstar and Oxford Hills marks the final practice run for the host Rebels before the start of the brief, but all-important championship season. And coach Bob Remington says his racers appear to be peaking at just the right time.

Three days from now, on Saturday, the Rebels will journey to Leavitt for the Mountain Valley Conference Championships, and on Feb. 19-21, during school vacation week, the state championships will be held at nearby Black Mountain, in Rumford.

[The MVC alpine championships will be held Friday, Feb. 8 at Shawnee Peak. The state championship alpine events will be held Feb. 19-20, also at Black Mountain.]

Remington said that barring injury or illness, he expects his racers to be a force in both the MVC and state championships.

Both the Rebel boys and girls have performed well so far this season, he said, "but up to now we're really not been concerned with standings," since in the end the only races that count are the championships themselves.

In an aerobic sport like cross-country skiing, Remington said, an athlete can only hope to "peak" for a two- or three-week period, so the early season emphasis for most com-

Bethel Bancorp second quarter earnings are up

Bethel Bancorp has announced that its net income for the second quarter, which ended December 31, 1990, was $270,445, or $1.50 per share. The figure is up from $232,589, or $1.44 per share, for the same period in 1989.

However, combined earnings for the first two quarters of the current fiscal year were down from those for the comparable period in 1989. For the most recent six-month period, the Bancorp reported earnings of $527,338, or $3.06 per share, down from $545,769, or $3.10 per share for the same period last year.

Bancorp Executive Vice President Marilyn A. Wyman attributed the slight decline in net income to one-time expenses associated with the Bancorp's acquisition of Brunswick Federal Savings.

The bank's board of directors has declared a dividend of $.08 per share for the second quarter. The dividend will be payable on Feb. 13 to shareholders of record on Jan. 31.

Total assets of Bethel Bancorp as of Dec. 31, 1990 were $139,512,700 and total capital was $11,897,000, or 8.53 percent of total assets. Book value was $20.40 per share as of Dec. 31.

Jim Delamater, president of Bethel Bancorp said, "Management is very pleased with these results. Both Brunswick Federal and Bethel Savings continue to experience good demand for their services. We are very optimistic about our ability to treat the current economic crisis as an opportunity to build a strong foundation for future earnings growth. Both banks are seeking new client relationships by aggressively marketing our commitment to 'personalized service' for both individual and business clients within our communities."

Bethel Bancorp is the parent company of Bethel Savings Bank FSB and Brunswick Federal Savings. The holding company trades on the NASDAQ system under the symbol "BTHL."

'Smash and grab' thefts hit the streets of Bethel

Bethel Police are warning local residents and visitors not to leave valuables in locked or unlocked vehicles.

Bethel Police Chief Brian Stowell said over the past few weeks "smash and grab" thefts from cars and trucks have increased. The term refers to thefts in which vehicle windows are broken and the items inside stolen.

Stowell said that the classification for this type of crime has been upgraded. "A new crime has been created in the past year, called burglary of a motor vehicle. It's a more serious of-

A SUGGESTION FOR THE U.N.

To the Editor:

I am in fifth grade at Crescent Park School. I am also in the POCUS Program (Focus On Creating Understanding, and Solving.) In the POCUS Language Arts program we've been talking about the war in the Gulf. I'm not really sure about what the United Nations can do, but I think the U.N. should let ten people from every country fight—no more. Then, they'd fight for their side, whichever it was. Not as many people would get hurt or killed, and not as many families would be sad.

I would like to add that I never wanted war, but I hope it will be quick, and Kuwait will be free.

LIMIT THE POWER OF THE NFLC

To the Editor:

As you know, Congress voted to fund the Northern Forest Lands Council (NFLC), a group whose goal is the continued study of the 26 million acres of forest land contained in most of Maine, northern New Hampshire, northern Vermont and eastern New York for one year. This month, Senator Leahy will introduce legislation to authorize the NFLC to continue its work for an additional three years. Although we would prefer that the study come to an end, it is unlikely that this will happen. Therefore, we have decided to support the proposed legislation under certain conditions.

National forest preservation groups and local environmental groups are expected to lobby intensely for changes in the makeup of the council. They are seeking to increase the membership of the council to include representation by the National Park Service, U.S. Fish and Wildlife and EPA; to promote regulatory powers for the NFLC; and to create advisory committees of which they would be a part.

We are asking people to write to the representatives and senators from their state urging them not to support Senator Leahy's legislation unless the terms adhere to those specified in the Report by the Governor's Task Force. To give people some ideas what to say, I am enclosing part of a presentation we made to the NFLC and some congressional staff members on Jan. 18.

"We are extremely pleased that Congress decided to fund a study of the Northern Forest lands. Only good can come from a truthful and unbiased study, done from the perspective of local people. We commend the intent of the study to reinforce the traditional land ownership patterns, not change them. Nobody likes big government to disrupt and change his or her lifestyle for the benefit of others."

"We would like to make some points regarding the proposed federal legislation to authorize the Northern Forest Lands Council:

- A bigger threat to the forest than development is the lack of public knowledge about the environmental benefits of a working forest. We would like to see a strong statement in the legislation to make education about the vegetation management a top priority.
- We do not want to see the council membership increased. Forest preservation groups have tried to make themselves spokesmen for the forest environment. Though they do know a lot about the forest environment, they do not know the effects of vegetation management on the forest. These groups do not belong on this council because they have demonstrated that they are extremely close minded.
- The USFS representative on the board should serve strictly in an advisory capacity, providing expertise to facilitate the work of the four state members. The Forest Service has gone through dramatic changes in recent years. No longer are they trying to do what is best for the land and the people. Their actions show that they are more concerned with lawsuits by preservation groups and bad press than they are in doing what is best for the forest. This has been demonstrated by the NFLS report written by the USFS despite some of the wishes to the contrary by the Governors' Task Force, and the final results of forest management plans for individual national forests across the country.
- The NFLS should be a non-regulatory body. Local people do not want to see another layer of government controlling their lives. With a regulatory body, there is too much danger of abuse by appointees who might not have empathy for the people under their control. Local public officials need information to help them do their jobs, not another group telling them how to do it.

If you want support from local people for federal legislation, local field hearings on the proposed legislation in the Northern Forest Lands Study area are a must. To hold a hearing only in Washington, gives a signal that local people do not count. Few local people have the resources to travel to Washington to testify.

- The creation of advisory committees to the NFLC is not necessary and will be counterproductive. It will simply bog down the process by full time land use advocates. The council has already heard from a broad spectrum of the public, and they will hear from more.
- The NFLS must not become a national issue. MUA networks with many pro-land use association across the country, and we have learned that when land use issues take on 'national significance,' local people do not count."

Please write letters to the members of your state delegation at once so we may be able to influence this new legislation in a positive way.

PREVENTING MORE WARS

To the Editor:

The war in Iraq brings new surprises and more devastation every day, as the expected "quick war" eludes us.

Although I have come to be disgusted with the actions of Saddam Hussein, I find myself wanting to stop the killing and environmental damage before things get even worse. However, in South Paris I feel helpless to make this happen.

If the war cannot be stopped now, what can each of us do to prevent it from happening again?

After listening to hours of testimony and news coverage, and reading countless articles, I am convinced we would not be at war now if Kuwait had been anywhere else in the world than the Middle East. The fundamental reason we are at war is because of oil.

There are the first thing each of us can do is to challenge ourselves to permanently reduce our use of petroleum products such as gasoline, oil and plastics. The United States supposedly has five percent of the world's population and uses 35 percent of its petroleum. We quickly forgot the lessons of the oil embargo in the late 1970s.

Secondly, each of us should contact our congressional representatives and the president and tell them we want:

- A national energy policy now. One that will drastically reduce our dependence on petroleum;
- An immediate and visible effort to resolve the Palestinian homeland issue while ensuring Israel's security;
- A consistent foreign policy of which we can be proud, not one that results in us supporting a Saddam Hussein on Aug. 1, and calling him another Hitler on Aug. 2;
- To stop our government and corporations from selling weapons and war technology abroad, while we pressure other governments like France, the Soviet Union and Israel to also stop. We and other countries helped create Saddam's power;
- To encourage the wealthier Arab countries to discontinue more of their oil wealth to poorer Arab nations in order to reduce long-term jealousies and tensions;
- To invest money and talents into training our leaders in conflict resolution techniques. There is ample evidence that this war could have been prevented before President Bush made the fateful decision in November to change our strategy from a defensive to an offensive force.

Unless each of us do what we can on a personal level, and demand that our government do the same on a national and international level, we are destined to send our family members to war again.

I cannot sit back and see that happen to my child—how about yours?

BID OPENING—The Bethel Town Office was filled with contractors Thursday afternoon, as bids were opened for this summer's Downtown Revitalization Project. The low bid, from Scott Construction Co. of Newport Vt., was for $560,077.50; the high bid, from L.A. Drew Co., was for more than twice that amount—$1,145,119. In all, 17 construction companies bid on the contract, a far cry from the days of the real estate boom—when, according to former town manager Rodney Lynch, "You had to beg them to bid." The bids are currently being reviewed by the selectmen, Engineer Mark Tyler open the first bid, as Bob Gunderson of the Bethel Water District looks on.

D.A.R.E. SAYS THANKS

To the Editor:

Thanks are not enough for the many donations, countless hours of meetings and planning that have gone into getting D.A.R.E. off the ground.

The first project D.A.R.E. program will come to a conclusion on Feb. 12 with the first of a hoped-for many, annual project D.A.R.E. graduations. So many people have made this program a reality. After many months of hard work, the D.A.R.E. team is extending an open invitation to everyone in the SAD #44 area to celebrate the graduation ceremonies with the districts first sixth-grade class to complete the D.A.R.E. program.

Sixth-graders from Andover, Bethel, Greenwood, Newry and Woodstock along with parents will gather at the Helen Berry Auditorium at Telstar to receive their awards. Refreshments will be served after the completion of the program.

Won't you join us that evening also? The time is 7 p.m., Tuesday, Feb. 12, in the Helen Berry Auditorium at Telstar.

We look forward to seeing all of you.

Newry will discuss school withdrawal plan at hearing next week

The Newry Educational Committee will hold a public hearing on Feb. 12 at 7 p.m., at the town office, to discuss the merits of the proposed withdrawal plan from SAD #44.

Since the town voted in September to start the withdrawal procedure, the committee has worked with educational consultants to formulate a plan for educating Newry students should the town ultimately vote to pull out of the district.

Tuesday's hearing will be the first formal forum for taking citizens' comments on the proposal plan, which has already received tentative approval from the state Department of Education.

Jim Sysko, chairman of the withdrawal committee, said that residents of other SAD #44 towns are free to attend and speak at the meeting.

in employment at the resort. He said that over the last few years employment at Sunday River has maintained about a 7 percent increase per year.

The land slated for development in the plan is west of the present facility, in the Merrill Brook Basin, off Sunday White Cap, Black, Wheeler, and Jordan peaks.

Sunday River already has approval for two lifts and eleven trails in the Monkey Brook and Barker basins. The total costs for the first phase of expansion are estimated at $18.3 million.

According to the Skiway's application to the DEP, the high capacity quad chairlifts planned for the new area cost about $2 million each. The total expense for four lifts would be about $8 million. Trail construction costs are estimated at $1.3 million. The pipe network and increases in air and water systems for snowmaking on the new trails are projected to cost $5.5 million. Construction of base lodges and other support facilities would cost about $2 million, and parking lots and roads would cost an additional $1.5 million.

Sunday River must also gain approval from the Newry Planning Board for any support facilities, such as base lodges, that it plans to build. The plan, however, calls for the phase-one trails and lifts to be serviced from the Peak Lodge between Spruce and North peaks, which was opened this season.

The Land Use Regulation Commission must approve any expansion in to Riley Township, where much of the proposed new skiing territory lies. According to LURC Commissioner Steve Wight, Sunday River has begun work on LURC applications.

FROM THE Bethel Town Office

I'd like to thank everyone who attended the roast of Rodney Lynch on Jan. 31. The food was delicious, the presentations were funny, and the company was great. Rodney was a good sport throughout. So good, in fact, that I believe he enjoyed every slap. We have had a lot going on this past week. The bids for the Downtown Revitalization Project were opened and are under review. Meanwhile I am wrapping up easements and deeds for that project.

The Colonel Dyke Airfield has been demanding some attention. The FAA is working with the appraisers of land donated and shutting the airport in order that we may finalize our grant paper work with them. Additionally, there is a potential requirement for a storm water discharge permit at that site. This initially disarming scenario has dropped into the background since I have pointed out the limited services at the Dyke field. Solid waste and recycling are also in the limelight. The Oxford County Recycling Corp. will be holding its meeting at the Bethel Town Office this evening. Please feel free to join us. We are committed to this group. As a member we will be participating in their recycling program. Please watch for announcements of the grand opening of the new recycling center, probably to occur in mid-March.

The budget season is quickly approaching. We will all do our best to keep our taxes from jumping too high while maintaining the standard of service Bethel citizens have come to expect.

In closing, I'd like to wish Merton Brown, town clerk, a very happy 42nd birthday tomorrow.

petitive nordic skiers is on building an endurance base—not on sking fast. The speed training, which depends on that endurance base, only comes in the final weeks leading up to the championships.

"Unlike most team sports, you can't be best for the whole season," the coach said. "The kids who are standouts early on often drop off."

His racers understand this and train accordingly, he said, "that sometimes it's hard to convince their parents."

Remington said he thinks his girls are the team to beat in the MVC championship. Last year, Rebels skiers Shilo Hutchins, Kristen Powell and Crystal Chase were among the very best skiers in the state, he said, but as a team the Telstar girls lacked a strong number four skier. This year that problem has been solved by the emergence of Missy Hutchins, and the Rebel girls should be a tough foursome to beat.

The Telstar boys may not be quite so strong overall, Remington said, but they are extremely well balanced. At various times over the season, Matt O'Meara, Tom Morton and Scott Emery have each won a race. Burkh has contributed several strong second-place showings.

Today's meet with Oxford Hills begins at 3 p.m. Saturday's MVC championship races are scheduled to begin at noon.

CD released

Rumford area bands include Emergency Jam Squad, The Shambles, The Sonny Probe Experience, and Sky Frontier, from Bethel.

"Emergency Jam Squad is made of members of several Rumford bands, including Arnel Jones, Tom Hines, Ken and Mark Steele, and Dean Gilbert.

The Shambles is a studio band led by Dave Denison of Rumford, who also plays bass guitar with the Rag-Tag People's Theatre.

Harold Foster, vocalist for The Sonny Probe Experience, contributed a song called "Cop Rant," which details in a spoken style, his many run-ins with police officers.

Foster, who calls himself a "weekend and an occasional Thursday" musician, said having his song on a compact disc, "will get it heard by a lot more people than I know, or will probably ever know."

"Nothing against Rumford, but it's almost impossible to play original music here," Foster said. "People want to hear songs they know. Hopefully the CD will convince club owners and radio stations that there are a lot of musicians right in their backyard who are ready to play, if given the chance. After all, the bands on commercial radio started out the same way, as unknowns, just trying to get their music heard."

Nineteen-year-old Jason Rowland of Rumford, while not fronting a band, played drums on six of the songs, Conni St. Pierre said.

One thousand compact discs have been made, with each band receiving 90. Tourmaline Music will send the remaining 100 to radio stations, record companies, and music publications, said St. Pierre.

"With a compilation, it's easier to do promotion. Instead of each band sending out a copy of the disc to record companies, we do it for them, since all the bands are on it," she said. "It saves a lot of duplication of effort."

St. Pierre said, "Out of the Woods" is unique for both the wide range of styles on it, and the territory the bands cover. Three Portland-based bands are included: Ghost Walks, Otis Coyote, Boom Shanka, as well as Mark Poulin from Newburyport, Mass. and the group Amsterdam from Ottawa, Canada.

Also included is The Wasteland Band from Naples, whose singer and songwriter, John Julien, has recorded more than 90 originals and records a new song nearly every week, St. Pierre said.

While bands Ghost Walks, Boom Shanka, Sonny Probe, Otis Coyote, and Sky Frontier, already have their own cassette and album releases on the market, St. Pierre said at least half of the songs on "Out of the Woods" are available only on the CD.

St. Pierre said there is a reluctance for radio stations to play music off cassettes, and the programmability and high sound quality available on CDs was a major factor in deciding on a CD-only release.

"A lot of record companies and radio stations look down on cassettes, because they often get cassettes that have been recorded at home on poor equipment. With good equipment and production, a cassette can sound as good as any record, but we decided that putting out a CD would be one way of convincing people that this is a professional effort," St. Pierre said.

Since each band is responsible for selling its own copies, she said, the CD won't be hard to find in the area. Copies can also be purchased directly from the Outlook Studio, HCR Box 180, Bethel, Me., 04217.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next meeting will be held on Thursday, Feb. 7, in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House beginning at 7:30 p.m. Featured during the program portion of the meeting will be the annual film festival. Anyone interested in attending is cordially invited to do so.

Recently the following reminiscences written by the late Edith Kimball Howe (1894-1975) were found. Titled, "A Happy Summer" these reminiscences record memories of a 1904 August in Middle Intervale when the family lived in the house now owned by Bill Kelfer and Jim May: "When my youngest brother was about to be born in August 1904, my mother went to the Lewiston hospital and my father's youngest sister (Aunt Mabel) came to keep house for a month. With her came her three children, Roy, Ralph and Cecyl, Roy, over a year older than I, Ralph ten weeks my junior, and Cecyl, Aunt Mabel's only girl, about two years younger. There were three of us at home. Lawrence, my brother, 3½-years-old, my sister Alice, age seven, and me about 10, so Aunt Mabel was kept pretty busy with six mischief makers to look after.

"The brook beside the house was the spot where most of the fun was. Going barefoot, we fished with bent pins and grasshoppers and caught trout too. The plank bridge over the brook rested on stones walled up to six or more feet high. Under the bridge was a deep hole partly under a huge rock and there a large trout seemed to live. He paid no attention to any of our baits for many days. We had the run of the house, shed, and barn and one day in the shed chamber, Roy found an old salmon spear. That was just the thing for that big trout we thought and we took it down to try it out. We thought we missed him, but the next morning floating in the deep hole was the dead fish we thought had evaded our grasp. We dressed and weighed it and took it to the two great aunts (Aunt Sue Kimball and Aunt Harriet Sanborn), who lived in the next house (destroyed by fire in 1933). They were pleased to get the fish, which, as it weighed over one pound, made a good meal for them.

"The brook widened out below the bridge and two large flat rocks were in the pool like stepping stones. In fact, we went across the brook more often that way than over the bridge. Another large trout who paid no attention to our baits used to lie in the sun between the large stones. We tried every way to catch that one.

"In the shed was a cupboard called a 'cake safe.' The doors were made of a frame with screening on it and food placed on the shelves in the cupboard kept fairly cool and away from insects.

In the screen we had covers to put over food made of wire screening in a domed shape with knobs on top for handles. There were several sizes and we took one of the large ones down to the brook. With a long string tied to the knob and a pole the wire cover was let down over that trout. We had him yet did not have him exactly. How to really get him puzzled us only a few minutes. A platter was hustled to the brook, slid under the fish and cover and we really had that one. He was also dressed and taken to the aunts as what would one trout amount to among so many in our family.

"Next to fishing we made stilt, which were enjoyed by the five older children. Beginning with the steps about six inches from the ground, we progressed rapidly until we were from two to three feet about the ground and could take yard long steps with our stilt.

"That was a wonderful month and only school ended the happy times when Aunt Mabel and the children left so they could be in their own school to begin another year."

The Bethel Historical Society 17th annual Heritage Day will be held on Friday, Feb. 22, at the Dr. Moses Mason House. been moved closer to the Kuwait border.

But, while the families all dutifully follow the war news, some are not at all happy with the way television is covering the homefront.

Phil Korhonen said he wished the television networks would devote less coverage to war protesters. And Doreen Benson, whose son Dean is in the Army and stationed close to the Kuwait border, agreed, saying her son is also upset by the reports of protesting in this country.

Doreen said Dean has written home that the apparent lack of support by some Americans bothers him. She said, "He writes that if people only knew the whole story they wouldn't be out protesting."

"It makes me very angry," she said, "especially when I see them burning the flag. That's the flag that's flying over our boys and girls over there."

Stacey Roberts, son of William and Caroline Roberts of East Bethel, is also disturbed by protesters, according to his mother.

Stacey is a reservist and an Army M.P. He shipped out to the gulf the day after the war started. The Roberts haven't heard from him yet, but a reserve officer in Auburn told them that Stacey arrived in the gulf safely and that he may be in Dammam, Saudi Arabia.

Caroline Roberts said she and her

Army Reserves

Lynn said she and her two small children are getting along "pretty good" without Jim. The children miss their father, but Lynn says, "My four year-old daughter handles things well. What she understands is that her daddy is working for the army and when the army doesn't need him anymore, he'll come home."

"The tone of his letters indicates that they're not in the line of fire," Lynn said.

Andrew Smith has also called home. According to Edith Smith, her son called his girlfriend Sharon Fuller of

"I asked where she was and she said she didn't even know," said Tracey. "We cling to the TV pretty much when there's updates and continue to hope and pray for her safety. It helps when she calls at least we know she's safe."

The families also take an active interest in the daily details of the lives of their loved ones in the gulf.

Edley Strickland, whose grandson Matthew Pacaeco of Newton, Mass. is in the tank division of the 101st Cavalry, got a letter from Matthew with the details of his Christmas Day. Edley said, "Four of them got together on Christmas Day. They're up in the front. They pooled their Christmas packages for a Christmas dinner. A can of spam was the main part of the dinner, spiced with tabasco sauce sent in Matthew's package. They had a sand storm on Christmas. Their pockets were filled with fine sand at the end of the day."

Juanita Korhonen asked David to tell her how his troops got water for their personal use.

She said David wrote that his outfit's water supply came from 40 gallon tanks mounted on wheels.

Since the temperatures have dropped into the 30s at night in the gulf area, Juanita said, some of the Sea Bees use 25-gallon fire barrels to burn wood scraps in, to warm up in the morning.

According to the families of these service people, they enjoy getting letters from home and most have received letters from people in this area. Neta Littlefield said, "support and prayers of everybody are helpful to all the families."

Doreen Benson has helped start a support group for local families with members in the gulf and anyone interested can call her at 674-2346.

husband are, "doing pretty good. We have a lot of faith and Stacey has, too. He believes in what he's doing."

Some of the local families have not heard from their loved ones since the war broke out. Dick and Neta Littlefield talked to their son Richard on the morning of Jan. 15, but haven't heard from him since. Neta said, "We're hanging in there. He's in a service and supply unit near the front."

Lorraine York hasn't had a letter or talked to Shane by telephone, and neither have the Korhonen heard from David since the fighting broke out.

Lynn Cobb of Greenwood is luckier—she has heard from her husband Jim, in Dammam. He called about two weeks after the war broke out. "He said things were calm where they are," said Lynn. "He's stationed in a port city but they're on the road a lot." Jim is in the 619th Transit Co.,

Locke Mills two weeks ago and said he was still in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, and trucking west, away from the fighting. Homer said, "His courage is good, but he's getting kind of tired of driving truck all the time." Homer said supply trucks are running around the clock to forces in Saudi Arabia.

And Tracey Noyes of Byant Pond has also heard from her niece Vanessa Austin, daughter of Frederick Noyes III of Woodstock. Vanessa and her husband Carl are both in the reserves. Vanessa is in Saudi Arabia and Carl is in Germany. Their two small children are in Detroit with Carl's parents and are doing well according to

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

According to some of the children, the most exciting news this week was the assembly to announce the top money winners from the walk-a-thon.

The first-graders brought in the highest amount of any class and won the prize of having a pizza party for their classroom. The individual who was to win a stuffed animal for bringing the most money for the Legion Memorial School turned out to be two kindergarten students, Catherine Richards and Ryan Dillingham tied and both were awarded prizes.

For the big school, both prizes were won by the fifth grade. David Stearns brought in the most pledges and the fifth grade total earned them a pizza party. Many thanks to all who participated, and to all who helped out with pledges and support.

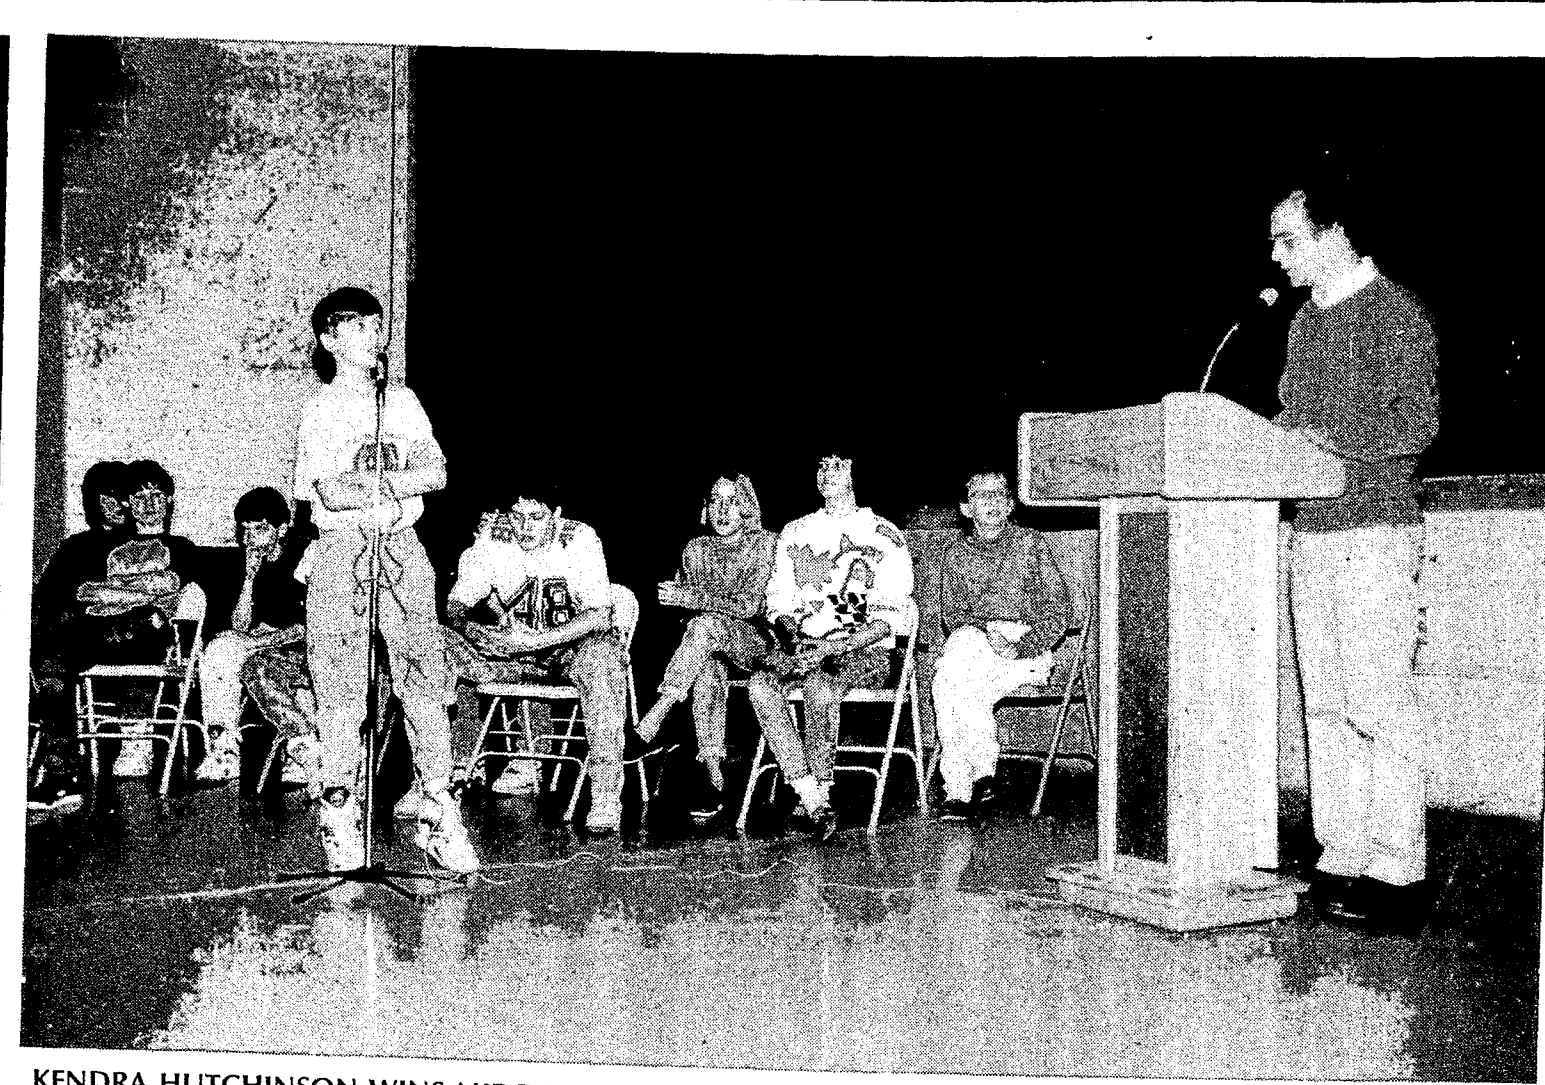

Monday, February 4, the Parent-Teacher Volunteer group will be meeting to decide just what can be bought in the computer line for the over $2,000 raised. The group will also be planning a bottle/can drive to raise money for the annual fifth-grade trip to Boston. Please save your donations for us. We will be having the bottle drive on Saturday morning, Feb. 16. We will be knocking on your door, or you may bring donations directly to the school.

Other business to be taken care of at this meeting involves our room called the Clothes Closet. We are organizing a way for people to recycle outgrown children's clothing. We will be helping the environment and each other at the same time! Feel free to contact the school or Mrs. Barbara Shedd for further information.

Kindergarten classroom news is that the classes have made their popcorn Ps and have been tracing, cutting and pasting lots of penguins. They are also beginning the letter Q. They are designing patterns and are following three different forms: AB, AAB, and ABC.

The first graders are working on their Children Are People lessons. CAP is our drug and alcohol prevention program. They are making weather graphs and recording the weather daily.

The special person of the week in grade two is Libby Doughty. Let's hope all sorts of good things happen for Libby this week. Mr. Grigsby is leading a program for the whole class to help all the children deal with their feelings to help them understand that they can and do choose their own thoughts and feelings. Mr. Grigsby does this with the aid of Punsy, the KENDRA HUTCHINSON WINS MIDDLE SCHOOL GEOGRAPHY BEE—Telstar eighth-grader Kendra Hutchinson, seated third from right, won the school's geography bee last week, by naming the three continents crossed by the Tropic of Capricorn. Kendra will now advance to the next level of competition, a written examination. All school winners have the potential to win the national championship and its first prize, a $25,000 college scholarship at Jarrod Crockett was the runner up in the contest. Other participants included Lydia Grover, Amiee Kaulback, Brian and Mr. Morton were the moderator and judge for the event. Above, Bee Master Raymond grills sixth-grader Josh Morton; left, eighth-grader Brian Spaulding ponders a tough question about five-year economic plans. puppet dragon.

February is Dental Health Month and the third-graders are beginning their study of teeth, concentrating on the care of their teeth. Both the second and third grade participate in a fluoride program. Mr. Burke is reading Aesop's Fables to his class. The children are learning about choral, or echo, reading.

The fourth-graders are concentrating on the Maine State Assessment tests this week, and it is taking up most of their mornings. They have finished their Chester Cricket stories and are now listening to a favorite author, Laura Ingalls Wilder, and her story, "The Long Winter".

I am trying to keep my fifth-graders working, despite excitement about the pizza party. We are writing letters to specific Maine people that are in the Persian Gulf, and we are working on dictionary skills and language arts. We are continuing our science unit on magnets. Mr. Tim Berger did visit our class last week with a film and discussion of the dangers of cigarette smoking and the drug, nicotine.

The sixth-graders are wrapping up their unit on fractions with Mr. Neil Tame. They have done lots of hands-on activities with manipulatives and have had lots of fun with fractions. In their study of the circulatory system they have learned about the flow of blood through the heart and have drawn and labeled the human heart. They are finishing up their letters to the Persian Gulf. These letters are going directly to Eddie Alford, whose son, Dewayne is in the sixth grade. Some letters are specifically for Mr. Alford, and others are to be shared with his fellow soldiers. We all will be glad when everybody is back home.

Pharmacy & Your Health

David Preble, Prim's Pharmacy
Proper Use of Inhalers in Asthma Treatment

Asthma is a common lung condition that affects more than 9 million Americans (about four percent of the population). According to a recent issue of the Mayo Clinic Proceedings, asthma is the most common chronic condition treated by pediatricians and the leading cause of childhood disability. Medically, asthma is a narrowing or obstruction of the small air passages in the lungs. Typically, asthma causes chest tightness, breathlessness, wheezing, and coughing.

Prescription medicines given by way of a metered-dose inhaler have been found to be effective in treating asthma. Such medicines include albuterol, terbutaline, and metaproterenol. Some studies have shown that very few patients actually use metered dose inhalers correctly. The most common problem relates to inhaling and holding the breath for the proper amount of time. The correct procedure, according to most references is: remove the inhaler cap; shake the inhaler container; hold the container upright; tilt the head back slightly; inhale and exhale through the mouth or nose normally; seal the lips on the inhaler mouthpiece; breathe in slowly and deeply through the mouth to activate the inhaler; hold the breath for 10 seconds; exhale slowly through the nose; use one puff of medication; wait 30 to 60 seconds before administering another puff.

The Greenwood Historical Society meets Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7:30 p.m. at the Society building on Main Street.

The Greenwood Fire Department meets Wednesday, Feb. 6, at 7 p.m. at the Fire Station.

Vera Cross has been a patient at Stephen's Memorial Hospital this past week for tests and observation. They decided, I hear, that she had pneumonia. There have been a number of people with various viruses but we hope not many of them will be this severe.

Marcia Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mills, celebrated her 33rd birthday in Pensacola, Fla. on Feb. 3.

Helen Chase and Charlotte Cole visited patients at Ledgeview one day last week where Charlotte entertained with music. They also took some food and joined Dora Dingley for supper at her Mountain View Apartment and after played cards.

This week has been a study in contrasts as far as weather is concerned, we've had warm, cold, snow, wind, don't know how people react to it but it's getting the cats paranoid. They happily survey the outside through the window, go to the door, get a blast of wind or snow, give me a look and then run back to the center of the house. Speaking of looks—we had talent night at our church Sunday evening. That is the night, as my husband puts it, "we go and make fools of ourselves." But it's fun. We get treated to songs, skits, stories, displays of needlework, whatever, and it's surprising sometimes the talent people can come up with that lies dormant until called upon. Anyhow one of our ladies read a poem called "What is a Grandma?"

In our church Vickie, James and Rusty Hughes have adopted us as their grandparents since they don't have any. Rusty is a very quiet four-year-old as far as verbal skills go—most of the time you would think he is not paying much attention but you would be wrong and what he lacks in verbal communication he can make up in expression because I would have loved to have gotten a picture of the look he gave me when Dot read the line, "Grandmas are people who wear funny underwear." It was priceless.

Newry

By JIM ANDERSON

Saturday, Jan. 26, I got my first fan letter. The letter was from a mother and grandmother from Limerick. Knowing her son, she is more than a grandmother for her son's family, but a grandmother from the results that are evident by the actions of her son.

Sue Moore called here the other day and has some news. Her son, Stanley Moore Jr., will be going into the Army. He is presently attending S.M.T.C. and has to be at Fort Benning by July 7. He has signed up for a four year hitch. He will be in the infantry. It will take him several months to be finished with his basic training, so hopefully he will miss being involved with the Middle East. From the Army, hopefully he will come back and go the the Police Academy to become a State Trooper.

It's amazing to me that people really like my column. Some have said that the column sounds like I am talking to the reader; I hope so, for I try to write it like a letter.

Once again, the Newry Mother's Club will meet at the town hall. Bea Lowell, June Swan and Olive Anderson are to bring refreshments. The rest of the ladies are to bring a homemade Valentine and a gift to exchange.

Back to this column; even people in Bethel are reading this column for there was a discussion of sorts at a deacon's dinner Jan. 30 at the Bass's house. I like people and do have a bit of the gab. In this medium, I do have to be careful what I say for it's in print and can come back and haunt me.

Jan. 29, mother and I went into South Paris to get some dog biscuit from the Farmer's Union. While there, we stopped at the Civil Defense Office and picked up five blankets. I also got nine copies of the latest Haz Mat book, which Tink had wanted me to get earlier.

On Jan. 30, a day forecasted as a bad snow day, there were only four Newry ladies bowling and two of us as "guests."

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Roland Bernier celebrated his birthday Thursday with phone calls and guests added to the cards and the end of a long, cold January. If he is lucky, a marble fudge cake will arrive by supertime.

I've lived in Upton longer than any other resident here now and enjoyed a conversation recently with a comparative newcomer about lifestyle past and present. Later, I mentally fashioned an analogy. My knitting basket contained a myriad of small balls of plain and angora yarn. After I tied these together into two like balls, I knit a very pretty pair of stockings and mittens. Upton is a variety of people, some tied in clusters, but not knitted together to show the best possible or be most productive.

PLEASANT STREET FIRE IN ANDOVER—Raymond Hutchins and his family are staying with relatives after a Saturday morning fire that gutted most of the house's second floor and attic. The Andover Fire Department got the blaze under control in about an hour, according to Chief Ken Dixon. Rumford Fire Department assisted at the scene, and Andover Rescue and Med-Care stood by, but there were no injuries. Janet Hutchins said she was alerted to the fire by smoke detectors. The electrical fire started on the first floor on the house and burned up the walls into the second floor and attic, according to Dixon.

called on the carpet for doing things wrong. Didn't know whether there would be time for a program or not but had a short one prepared just in case and did have it so was glad I was ready.

Our next meeting will be on February 18th I believe and will be a program for valentines day. We always enjoy company and if anyone comes, bring a valentine to exchange and the best home made valentine gets a prize.

Had an appointment with the doctor in North Bridgton on Tuesday so got there and then to my daughter's in Auburn to help get her ready for her C.N.A. graduation that evening. Made sandwich filling and prepared a vegetable platter as well as getting cheese ready and helping to fill ten dozen finger rolls. In the evening I went and helped serve the food to the folks who came for the graduation. The young ladies involved sure looked proud to get their pins and congratulations from their teacher. It was nice to see the care of the folks there to see them receive their pins. All got a rose also and pictures were taken. I had gone to watch the girls take their swim lessons also and that was interesting as I hadn't seen them swim since they could go without anything to help them float. They both do a great job in swimming. Courtney swims the length of the pool and Kariann can swim the width of it so they are doing fine. Their teachers were young but very good with the children.

We are proud of Dick Felt's band as they played for a benefit dance for Andy Frechette, they go to nursing homes to perform and wherever they are needed for good entertainment. I don't know how they go so much. I would be too tired to go much less be able to play an instrument for music. I congratulate them on all their good work to help the elderly and others who need it. They also played for the Christmas for Kids and donated their time. More folks should be that willing to help out.

My foster daughter, Helen Strout of Oxford called on me yesterday afternoon. I hadn't seen her since Christmas so was very glad to have her come to visit. Hope she comes again soon.

Wynona and the girls had called in Friday afternoon. Nonie had been to Waterville and gotten me a couple of items while there. I appreciate all she does for me.

Carl Roberts and friend Sylvia came to visit Mary one day recently and found her helping Marsha Baxter paper her kitchen.

Marsha Baxter went to Skowhegan to be with the family as her sister-in-law passed away from cancer. This happens to so many and it makes me wonder if the diet is one of the things that causes it. Who knows, it might be.

Peggy called on Bertha Benoit Sunday afternoon and evening.

Guess I got it all down and hope everyone takes care and has a good week ahead.

News from the Bethel Area

Health Center

Cholesterol and blood pressure screenings will be offered at the Bethel Area Health Center in early February. There is a glut of information in the mainstream about high blood cholesterol and blood pressure, yet coronary heart disease (CHD) is still the primary cause of death in the United States. Each year there are over one million victims of heart attacks, 50 percent of whom die. High blood cholesterol level and hypertension (high blood pressure) are major risk factors of coronary heart disease.

Cholesterol levels are directly related to factors such as heredity/family history, weight, age, gender and diet. Additional risk factors for coronary heart disease are Diabetes Mellitus, cigarette smoking, hypertension and definite cerebral vascular or peripheral vascular disease.

There are a number of ways we as individuals can impact on our heart health. Obviously we cannot change our heredity, age or gender but we can try to change some lifestyle behaviors to help lower our blood cholesterol levels, blood pressure and to just feel better. A low fat diet, regular exercise, stress reduction, smoking cessation and comprehensive medical care are just a few ways we can save our own lives.

These changes are hard but not impossible; many, many people are incorporating a heart healthy lifestyle into their daily lives. It takes support, perseverance and patience and we at the Bethel Area Health Center are here to help.

A blood cholesterol/blood pressure screening is just that; a screening. It is not a definite diagnosis of anything, but a possible indication that there may be a cholesterol/blood pressure problem. During a screening, participants fill out a form addressing their possible risk factors and are then weighed. The actual cholesterol test is done by finger stick and results take about three minutes. The results of these tests and the risk factor assessment are discussed with the participant. Educational materials are handed out, and referrals are made if necessary. The whole screening (minus waiting room time) takes about 10 minutes.

Three walk-in screenings will be held at the Bethel Area Health Center in the next week. The dates and times are Friday, Feb. 8 from 10:00-noon; Monday, Feb. 11, from 2:45-4 p.m.; and Wednesday, Feb. 13, from 2:45-4 p.m. The charge is $4. Take time to take care of yourself. Take the first step.

ASH WEDNESDAY SERVICE

FAX IT TO THE GULF—Roy Newton, of Newton and Tebbets Inc., has made the company's fax machine available for the public to send messages to the Persian Gulf. Here, Edith Smith and Roy send a message to her son Andrew who is stationed in Saudi Arabia. The national Guard. A system known as the Military Amateur Radio System enables the message to be relayed by computer from Maine to Delaware, then on to Germany and then, finally, to Saudi Arabia. The message is then printed out on paper and delivered to the serviceperson by regular military mail. Bob Welton of Camp Keyes said messages should be limited to about 25 words. The fax number is 626-4233 and messages may be submitted over the telephone at 626-4563.

Rotary Club notes

Madeline Henley, the new Bethel town manager, was the guest speaker at the Tuesday, Jan. 29, breakfast meeting.

Her topic was property tax and she had a video which described well the allocation being 63 percent for education, 25 percent for town government and nearly five percent for county administration. It also noted that local control of spending on education and other state mandates is constantly being eroded.

The local property tax is also the

Spec. Christopher Craig graduates at top of class in Air Assault School

On Jan. 18 Spec. Christopher Craig of Bethel graduated first in his class of 90 at the U.S. Army's Air Assault School. During the training Spec. Craig excelled in his mastery of the quickline repel, rapid water insertion and extraction.

At the graduation ceremonies, Colonel Jose Landrus also awarded Spec. Craig the U.S. Army Achievement Medal for Outstanding Technical Radio Operations.

Following six months of instructor's training Spec. Craig will be assigned as an Air Assault Instructor at Fort Campbell.

least fair tax, as it does not take into consideration the property owner's ability to pay, as income taxes do. This issue is becoming more of a concern each year as property taxes have increased dramatically in recent years.

Rodney Lynch gave Rotary information. He shared information on a recent visit from a Russian delegation to Dixfield. The Russians were quoted as being very impressed about the hospitality shown to them.

Guests included John Ciluzzi from Provincetown, Mass. and Curtis Cole and Bob Billard from the Oxford Hills Rotary Club. They extended an invitation to their club's anniversary dinner which will be held on Feb. 9 at Goldstreet Restaurant.

News from

Woodstock School

A message from the principal.

The Grade 4 students are working very hard on the Maine Assessment Tests. We are proud of the effort they are demonstrating in this experience. The testing will continue on into next week due to the storm day. We expect to be finished with the majority of testing by Wednesday. Make-up testing will continue for a few more days.

The ski program is off to a good start. The students are enjoying the seasonal activity, which is important to this area.

We appreciate the thoughtful project, placing yellow ribbons on the fence, arranged by Mrs. Whitman. The students have placed these ribbons on the fence to honor our servicemen and women who are in the many parts of the world including the Middle East. The large yellow ribbons were provided by Sue Rosenberg through the WPTA. The ribbons express our best wishes for a safe return home.

Please enjoy a nice family weekend. Thank you for your continued support of the Woodstock Elementary School.

THANK YOU

It is so hard to know where to begin this thank you, but I guess I should start with God, and my surgeons, Dr. Gorayeb and Dr. Phillips; the surgical staff, nurses, and dietary for their special care, concerns, and encouragement while I was a patient at Rumford Community Hospital.

A special thank you to the SAD #44 Staff for their concerns, cards, notes, flowers, and generous gift to me and my family. To Oxford Hills Christian Fellowship for the beautiful flowers, and all the food for my family while I was in the hospital, and upon my return home. To the Albany Congregational Church for the beautiful flowers; and to all my relatives and friends for their prayers, food, money and support; I truly do thank you.

A very special thank you to my husband Dan, son Darrin, and daughters, Jessica and Danijean; to my parents, Arthur and Alice Wardwell and twin sister Jane. Without all their help, understanding and support, over the last two months, my life sure would not be what it is today.

It is at special times like this that we must believe and rely on our Faith to pull us thru along with the support of the ground forces of relatives and friends. It is only with His guiding hand we heal, the pain subsides, and life moves on. May God Bless and Keep each one of you...

Sincerely
Jean W. Reynolds

Goodness is eternal. It has a life of its own. Like a pebble dropped into the sea, goodness sends ripples outward to touch people and places beyond our horizon.

We cannot always know what effect a person's goodness has had on the world, but we always know what effect it has had on us, and is the memory we hold in our hearts forever. Sadly missed Eleanor Softly the leaves of memory fall. Gently I gather and treasure them all. Unseen, unheard, you are ever near. So loved, so missed, so very dear. Today, tomorrow, and my whole life through, I will always love and remember you.

With loving thoughts and prayers,
Paula Stephanie
